ARAI ON THE REDS.

Capt. Devery Swoops Down on a Secret Meeting.

Clubs Drawn and Used Freely in Stanton Street.

The Mob Dispersed, but No Arrests Made.

The anarchists who tried to hoodwink the police this morning while holding a meeting at 97 Stanton street, made a sad mistake. They had given out that the meeting would take place at 2 o'clock, and instead of that, however, they decided to hold it at noon.

Everything went swimmingly along until 1 o'clock, when suddenly Police Capt. Devery himself, with two roundsmen and thirty policemen in full uniform, moved down upon the Reds.

The greatest excitement ensued. Fully 100 persons blocked the street, and the sidewalk as soon as the police appeared. Clubs were drawn and the mob scattered in every direction.

Some of the anarchists made a futile attempt to stand and fight, but a violent use of the clubs soon dispelled them. Finally the mob was driven away and order restored.

The majority of the officers went back to the station-house with the captain, and only a half dozen were left to guard the place.

The anarchists decided to hold the meeting in Stanton street, after they had been refused admission to Coventry Hall. They posted a notice on the hall building for every one to proceed to the Stanton street building.

That notice had been seen by one of Capt. Devery's men, and the raid followed. Before the raid several speeches were made.

Emma Goldman, who had promised to speak, did not present an appearance. The speeches were mainly to the effect that families were being evicted by the wholesale and that all were starving.

The incendiary speeches made at Coventry Hall by the anarchists who took possession of that place early yesterday morning, together with the remarks of Emma Goldman at Union Square last night, have induced the police to adopt a different line of policy.

FEEDING THE HUNGRY.

Fully 2,000 in Line at Krinkowstein's This Morning.

In spite of all stories to the contrary, it is certain that there are a number of hungry men, women and children on the east side, due mainly to the want of employment.

The ravenous manner in which they fight for the food given out by Krinkowstein, at 138 East Broadway, is evidence enough of this. There were with them, at least, a number of men and women, and children, and a few dogs.

The police at both the Eldridge and 138th street stations, which cover the district in which Emma Goldman generally hangs out, have received no notice of any actual cases of starvation.

Secretary Evans, of the American Federation of Labor, said that he had not heard of the fellow Committee men having received any notice of cases of starvation.

Henry Weissman, Secretary of the International Bakers' Union, said that he could not recall the names of hundreds of families, many of them members of his union, who have been evicted from their homes for days past dependent upon the charity of neighbors for food. Not one of them, he said, has been helped.

Investigation has developed the fact that the proportion of hungry men to the number of those who are not hungry, is about one to ten. The men who are hungry, he said, are really in want, suffering in silence, at least in the daytime, but at night, when they are not asleep, they are raising the cry of starvation.

Those who have been affected by the hard times to the extent of being hungry are not, however, all of the same class. For example, the men who are hungry are not all of the same class. For example, the men who are hungry are not all of the same class.

Improving the Condition of the Poor, the United Hebrew Societies, and the Jewish Relief Committee, have not been materially increased, and that the number of hungry men is not unusually large.

75 New Men Join the Strikers at the Seminole Pier.

Vessels May Be Detained in Port Another Day or Longer.

The striking longshoremen on the pier of the Mallory, Ward and Clyde lines received accessions to their ranks this morning of about twenty-five longshoremen on the Clyde line, who took the places of the strikers yesterday. About 100 longshoremen went to work loading the Clyde steamer Seminole at pier 25 East River at 6 o'clock this morning.

Some of the men were coming from the pier of the Seminole, and a crowd of strikers stood on South street and watched them. Without any warning the one hundred men working on the ship picked up the strike and refused to work.

About twenty-five of them returned to work, but the remainder joined the strikers around the pier, and spent the morning watching the vessel. At first the superintendent of the pier said that, despite the action of the longshoremen, the ship would be scheduled time, but towards noon the fact that the steamer was far from being loaded, and the large quantity of freight left on the dock, forced an admission that the indications were that the steamer would not get away until tomorrow.

As determined as the three companies appear to be to stand by the reduction of 20 cents to 25 cents per hour for the average longshoreman, the men this morning were equally bent on holding out against what they consider an outrageous reduction.

From Wall street to New Chambers street, along South street, the sidewalk was lined with strikers all morning, and they were watching the docks of the action of the longshoremen with great interest.

One orderly body of strikers could not be found, and although there is no organization among them, they are a law unto themselves. They insist that reduction means starvation, and in view of the peculiar and unjust method of employing them, and according to one longshoreman the steamer ship would not be loaded until tomorrow.

The average man among us makes about $8 each week, and of the seven days a week, six days are usually lost, because no steamer is in. On the Mallory and Ward piers the men are paid a day's wages for each day that the steamer is in port, and a half a dozen police are stationed at the entrance of the latter pier.

As the strike has been going on for some time, and the men are getting more and more desperate, it is not surprising that they are now taking to the streets. They are now taking to the streets, and are now taking to the streets.

TAX 1.82 ON THE HUNDRED.

Lowest Rate the City Has Ever Had.

The Board of Aldermen met today, and the Finance Committee reported on the tax rate for 1903. The committee recommended the rate to be 1.82 on the hundred, the lowest the city has ever had. The report will be over for one week and will be adopted.

The assessed valuation of real and personal property is $1,302,182,236, a net increase of $109,244,244 over last year. The amount required for the budget for this year is $12,441,548. Deducting from this the estimated income of $1,900,000 from general sources, and $26,725,113 which the Board of Estimate has added from a special source, the balance to be raised by taxation is $4,177,429.55.

But the Finance Committee has added to this sum $45,261.05 for estimated deficiencies, which makes the whole amount to be raised $4,222,690.60. In their report the Finance Committee point out that the tax rate at 1.82 is not only the lowest, but that there is a margin to spare.

The Constitution provides that the amount to be raised by taxes shall not exceed 2 per cent. of the assessed valuation of real and personal property, and 2 per cent. on a valuation of $1,302,182,236 would be $26,043,645.22, over $2,000,000 more than is needed. The budget includes about $100,000 for State taxes and interest on city bonds, which are exempt from the constitutional provision referred to, so that the sum total raised under that clause is only $2,020,629.08, a great deal less than 2 per cent.

After presenting the report, Chairman Brown, of the Finance Committee, said: "I suppose next Fall Platt and J. S. Fassett will pitch into Tammany Hall and say Tammany is responsible for a resolution from the Veterans' Firm, endorsing the proposed change. The resolution was passed on the minutes and that ended the matter."

After again calling up his favorite order to change Bayard street to Harry Howard street, and presented a resolution from the Veterans' Firm, endorsing the proposed change. The resolution was passed on the minutes and that ended the matter.

Justice Grady, in the Yorkville Police Court, heard a prisoner this morning whose name was Joseph Murphy, a watchman, of 54 West Sixty-seventh street. He told the justice that at 5 o'clock this morning he saw a man approach the back window of a house at 54 West Sixty-seventh street and snatch a loaf of bread from the window sill.

The flight was the outcome of a red-hot temper which is being made for school trustees. The election is to take place to-night.

Trying to Bombard a Shower of Prosperity Out of the Financial Sky.

H. H. MORRIS KNOCKED DOWN.

The Assemblyman in a Fight with Principal Devlin. Jenkins Discharges the Karamania's Passengers. Two Citizens Lose Their Lives in a Fight at Gilberton, Pa.

WESTCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 22.—Assemblyman H. H. Morris, son of John A. Morris, proprietor of the Morris Park race track, located in a row in Planny street, near the Morris Hotel, last night, and was knocked down by Michael E. Devlin, Principal of the Westchester Public School.

The fight was the outcome of a red-hot temper which is being made for school trustees. The election is to take place to-night.

Assemblyman Morris has been elected for a ticket composed of James Daley, George Decker and William Welsh, while Devlin is supporting the ticket bearing the names of Richard Welsh, Thomas O'Neill and William Welsh.

When Morris and Devlin met in the barroom they had a quarrel, and Devlin told Morris that he had no right to interfere with the school affairs, as he was not a resident of the district.

From hot words the men came to blows. Devlin shot out his right and struck Assemblyman Morris a powerful blow in the face, which knocked him down.

As Morris regained his feet the two were about to clinch, when the friends of Morris pulled him away, and the fight came to an end.

Bitter feeling exists between the two factions, and it is expected that the fight will be renewed at the election to-night. A number of deputy sheriffs will be stationed about the polls.
